EVERYDAY ESSENTIALS

Your guide to naturally supporting your pet's health

Happy, healthy pets everyday

One of the most influential factors on your pet's health is their diet - from the look of their coat to the spring in their step.

What your pet eats provides all the building blocks as they grow, repair and maintain their body and the quality that goes in is reflected in your pet's vitality.

How do common nutritional components support health?

- Vitamins and Minerals - can often ONLY be got from the diet (i.e. your pet can't make them in their body) and each has a specific important role in the body. Every body system requires vitamins and/or minerals to function properly.
- Antioxidants - vital for neutralising particles called free radicals and keeping cells healthy. Many natural compounds can act as antioxidants, including some vitamins.
- Omega oils - omega 3 and 6 are important for normal cell function and immunity but are also particularly beneficial for skin and coat health. These fats are another example of essential compounds that your pet can't make themselves, so have to be sourced from their diet.

Each pet will have individual nutritional requirements, determined by their unique life stage, lifestyle and any medical conditions they may have. It can be a challenge to get the nutritional balance just right but supplements can be a great way to ensure that your pet is getting all that they need each day. Dorwest products harness the natural power of herbs to provide this balance, even for pets on complete diets.

Keeper's Mix®

A unique blend of eight herbs to support all-round health. Rich in vitamins, minerals, natural antioxidants that neutralise free radicals, & more! We also have Keeper's Mix® Sensitive, with an even gentler formulation, making it ideal for puppies, kittens and pets with specific sensitivities.

Omega Star®

Naturally high in plant-based omega 3 & 6 oils that nourish the skin and coat, support healthy skin function and encourage hair growth. This carefully crafted blend of nutritious oils includes flax seed oil, blackcurrant seed oil and borage seed oil.

Garlic & Fenugreek Tablets

Packed full of natural active compounds to support all-round health at every life stage, the beneficial effects are seen across multiple body systems. From helping to maintain a strong immune system, to supporting skin health and function, to helping joints stay comfortable and mobile.

Easy-Green®

Supports all-round health with the power of 'super-greens' in an easy-to-give powder. Spinach, parsley and watercress are rapidly air-dried to retain maximum nutrients in a highly digestible form, providing a range of beneficial natural compounds. A great option for dogs on a raw diet.
