SKIN HEALTH

Your guide to naturally supporting your pet's skin

Healthy skin, happy pet

Healthy skin is an essential part of a happy pet, as skin problems can be a real source of discomfort.

There can be a wide range of underlying causes, including allergies, parasites or general disease, and they are unfortunately common – especially in dogs. There are a few things you can do though, to help keep your four-legged friend comfortable and itch-free!

Keeping your pet's bedding clean using a hot wash and unscented detergent is a great place to start by removing any irritating allergens. Grooming your pet daily can help to boost circulation and remove matted hair, while regular baths using a gentle pet shampoo help to cleanse the skin. Diet is also vital - aim for a high-quality, natural and balanced diet, avoiding colourings, additives and synthetic ingredients. Our herbal supplements can help too, providing essential nutrients, vitamins and minerals to naturally support and maintain healthy skin.

Signs of skin problems

- Redness, sore spot or a rash
- Increased sensitivity
- Increased scratching, rubbing or licking
- Hair loss
- Flakiness and dandruff
- Smelly skin
- Weepy skin

It's always important to speak to your vet if you're worried about your pet's skin, as there may be an underlying cause that requires treatment. Our supplements can be used alongside most medications, but please check with your vet if you're unsure.
